WHO WE ARE

Palm began with a few buddies and a standing weekly tee time at a local muni course in Orange County, CA. In between numerous three-putts and duffed chips, we talked about ideas and visions on how to improve the game of golf. We knew we would not make anyone a better golfer or revolutionize the sport, but we knew we had something to add to the style. We looked at everything we could and found an often neglected, but vastly used product, the glove. Palm's goal then became to provide a highly and uniquely fashionable golf glove with no sacrifice to the performance, fit, or feel. We made gloves that fit the profile from a clean-cut, tucked-in country clubber, to the high-top, jogger-wearing, muni-hacker.

Today our mission remains the same; any product we design will be a vessel that bridges the Southern California and surf culture with the game of golf we love. But most importantly, whether we birdie our double bogey, we'll always #swingandsmile
