

American Fit is much more than a new apparel brand. It's truly an inspiring apparel experience that every golfer feels when they place on a garment and breathe it in. American Fit brand has developed a vibrant personality. We are a non-traditional up trending golf and après golf apparel company dedicated to providing the most fashion forward clothing for today's style of play and living life to the fullest.

Born out of a heritage of producing the highest quality garments for some of the top brands in the golf industry, American Fit is now poised to appeal to men and women who desire to wear the finest in Pima Cotton and Technology fiber golf wear both on and off the golf course. We are developing a corporate culture that will get things "right" in the golf apparel business as we control our design, production, supply chain logistics and customer interaction all within American Fit.

We are seeking experienced sales representatives to connect with us in representing American Fit to their customers in select territories in the U.S. and Canada. International Distributors are welcome to discuss your respective territories with us at our PGA Show Booth #5993 and meet our founder Diego Levental.

We offer protected territories, industry high commissions, catalogs and collateral materials, fees to attend local and regional golf apparel shows and both designer Men's and Women's designer collections.
